

Judge Wants Briefs in Davis Hearing

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Police Director Lynn A. Davis testified Monday that his home was where his heart was, and that his heart had always been in Arkansas.

The comment came as Circuit Judge Warren Wood heard testimony in a lawsuit that challenges Davis' eligibility to serve as State Police director on grounds that he had not been an Arkansas resident for the 10 years "next preceding" his appointment by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Davis, who left Arkansas in 1960, said that even though he had lived for about 16 months in Wake Village, Tex., with his wife and one child before joining the FBI "part of my heart was with my parents" who lived in Texarkana, Ark.

"Your heart was with your parents even when you moved with your wife and family and all of your belongings to Wake Village, Tex.?" Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell quickly asked.

"Part of my heart was," Davis said.

"How much of your heart stayed in Arkansas?" the attorney general asked.

Davis did not answer as Wood sustained a quick objection from Davis' attorney, Frank Shults of Little Rock.

Wood indicated that he was prepared to render a decision in the case but, at Purcell's request, gave the attorneys one week to file written briefs.

Rockefeller appointed Davis to the job despite an opinion by Purcell that Davis was not eligible since he failed to meet the 10-year residency requirement in a 1945 law setting out the qualifications for State Police director.

Wood, himself an FBI agent from 1941-1944, overruled numerous Purcell objections to Davis' repeated testimony that he "intended" to make Arkansas his home although he had not physically resided in the state since moving to Texas.

Election Group Named in Lawsuit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Election Commission violated a state act by appointing Democrats as the third members of election commissions in their counties, seven Republicans charged in a suit filed in Circuit Court Monday.

The suit contends that Act 3 of 1948 provides that the third member of each county election commission is to represent the majority party in Arkansas, and that the law defines the majority party as the one that polls the most vote in the preceding gubernatorial election.

The suit asks that the commission be forced to appoint Republicans to the positions.

The state commission appointed Democrats as the third members of the election commissions in five counties Aug. 1, voting 6-2 on each position.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Frank Ellis of DeWitt, Franklin S. Garrison of Harrison, T. O. Porter of Hope, Chester Adres of Nashville, Mrs. Maxine G. Reed of Fordyce, Mrs. Marguerite Turner of El Dorado, and James W. Hurley of Springdale.

The Democrats said they had no knowledge of any vacancies except those in the counties to which they made appointments.

American Motors Offers a New Car

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American Motors today takes the wraps off a sporty, new car which it hopes will reverse the downward trend of its auto sales.

The newcomer, named the Javelin, has virtually the same appearance and specifications as the Ford Mustang and Chevrolet Camaro with which it will do battle in the 1968 car sales market. Prices were not announced but indications were that Javelin would be the lowest priced car in its field.

AMC officials told newsmen at a national press preview Monday night that they were confident AMC, fourth largest of the nation's automakers, would do better in 1968. The firm's sales sagged in 1967 and it went deep into the red.

The two-door hardtop Javelin, rushed through in a crash program by AMC engineers and stylists, was expected to be the answer to critics who said AMC's products had too much of the "granny look."

Said William S. Pickett, AMC vice president for sales, "This will be the kind of a car granny will want to drive but her grandchildren will be around borrowing it from her. It is youthful and peppy."

The AMC 1968 preview is the first held by any U.S. auto company.

Board Chairman Roy Chapin Jr., confirmed that the cars would carry a higher price tag in 1968 than they did a year ago. He blamed the boosts on increased costs of safety items, smog preventive devices and increased labor and materials costs.

Insemination or Adultery?

ROME (AP) — Italian courts have been asked to decide whether a woman commits adultery when she receives artificial insemination.

A North Italian professional man, whose name is not yet a matter of public record, charged his estranged wife with adultery after she had a child more than a year after they separated.

She contended she had received artificial insemination in a Milan clinic which she refused to name until the courts decide if the act was illegal. A date has not yet been set for the hearing.

Railway Mail Sorting Car Losses Ground

By JIM ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroad mail sorting car, once a key to America's postal system, is losing ground to Mr. Zip despite efforts of congressmen and postal workers to preserve it.

Once, railway mail cars were in use on 10,000 trains in all parts of the nation. Clerks sorted mail as the trains rolled along. Now, the number of cars is down to 800—a drop of about 2,500 in less than 15 years.

Soon, partly in conjunction with the Post Office Department's zone improvement plan, the called Zip for short, even more of the cars are to be abandoned.

Twenty-four mail-sorting cars are to be taken off runs between Chicago and Portland, Ore., alone in September.

Under the zone improvement plan, mail is shipped in bulk by the fastest means available—air, rail or highway—among 552 sectional sorting centers around the country.

Beginning Sept. 16, most first class mail moving east or west among a number of major cities will travel in bulk shipments by air instead of by rail. Officials say they hope to get letters to their destinations 24 hours sooner.

Among the cities to be included in the first class mail airlift are New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Seattle, Portland and Los Angeles.

All other classes of mail, including parcel post, will continue to move on trains. And, the Post Office says the sorting cars are being eliminated only on runs on which studies have shown that the mail can be moved and delivered faster in bulk.

U.S. Taking $443 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal tax collections in Arkansas during the fiscal year that ended June 30 surpassed the $400 million mark for the first time ever, the Little Rock District of the Internal Revenue Service said Monday.

The $443,212,000 in collections was a 15 per cent increase over the $385,731,000 collected in the preceding fiscal year.

Emmett E. Cook Jr., assistant district director, said the increase was due primarily to the "general prosperity of Arkansas."

Marshal Is Kidnaped, Robbed

LAKE CITY, Ark. (AP) — The night marshal of this town of 1,000 was kidnaped in his car on Main Street early today and driven around the community for several hours before he was robbed of $648 and locked in the trunk of the auto.

Luther Haggenmacher, 69, was not injured except for bruises and skinned marks on his hands caused by adhesive tape used to bind him.

Two sawmill workers, Cliff Wilson and Clarence Hill of Lake City, heard Haggenmacher's cries for help then they drove by his car on their way to work and forced open the trunk lid to free him. The car was parked on a road in the middle of a soybean field near here.

Haggenmacher said he was kidnaped by two armed men who, while he was in the trunk, milled around outside the car and appeared to be talking on walkie talkies or radios.

"You'd better hurry up cause we ain't got much time," Haggenmacher quoted one of the men as saying.

Police were at a loss to explain the kidnaping except that the robbers wanted only Haggenmacher's money. They said there were no burglaries during the night and no attempted burglaries had been discovered.

Haggenmacher told the Jonesboro Sun in an exclusive interview that he was sitting in his car about 1:30 a.m. today when a young man walked up to the driver's side with a gasoline can and said he was out of gasoline.

The marshal said he told the man he didn't know where he could get gas at that hour and then the man pointed a pistol, apparently a .44 caliber revolver, at his chest and told him to move to the center of the front seat, put his head on his legs and hands on the cash.

Haggenmacher said a second man whom he hadn't noticed got into the car and they taped his mouth and eyes with wide adhesive tapes.

The marshal said the men then drove around the community, stopping at one time to tape his wrist and feet.

without more study is opposed by some congressmen who say they still are the most efficient method for distributing mail to sparsely populated areas.

Elimination of the cars has been opposed for two years by the United Federation of Postal Clerks, which says they still are the most efficient sorting method for cities as well as rural areas.

AP&L Plans Nuclear Power Plant

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Power & Light Co. announced today that it planned to build the first nuclear power generating station in the Southwestern United States at a site on the Dardanelle Reservoir of the Arkansas River.

The company said construction on the $140 million, 800,000-kilowatt facility would begin in the fall of 1968 with commercial operation scheduled for December 1972. Fuel loading, beginning in July 1972, is expected to be completed in September of that year.

The station will be located on about 1,100 acres about five miles west of here and four miles southeast of the London community.

The plant, which can produce enough power to serve all the homes in a city the size of Chicago, will provide a major power generating station in the northwestern sector of the AP&L service area within economical transmission distance of the firm's growing power loads, the company said.

It will be connected by extra high voltage lines to the company's 500,000-volt system, which is part of the longest EHV grid in the nation and is part of the Middle South Utilities System.

Reeves Ritchie, AP&L president, told a meeting attended by leading residents of this area that at peak construction 500 workmen will be on the job. He said the work will generate payrolls estimated at $16 million. In addition, he said, local contracts and material purchases will amount to $14 million.

The plant will be the second nuclear project for AP&L. The company is cooperating with other investor-owned electric power companies, the General Electric Co., and U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and West Germany in the development of the Southwest Experimental Fast Oxide Reactor (SEFOR) near Fayetteville in Northwest Arkansas.

Purpose of the research center is to develop lower cost nuclear fuel electricity and establish engineering safety measures for large fast reactor power plants. SEFOR is expected to develop a method of extracting up to 80 times as much energy from the atom as can now be obtained.

Ritchie said the Arkansas River site was preferred among three locations that were available to AP&L because of engineering and economic considerations.

Ritchie said the company had acquired all the land required for the plant except for two small parcels.

He said the asking price for the parcels was "out of keeping with the prices that have been agreed to on the balance of the acreage" and that unless some agreement is reached the company will invoke the right of eminent domain to condemn the land or locate the plant at another site.

He said the company was proceeding on the assumption that "the problem of land acquisition will be resolved."

Ritchie said the plant design and operations will meet the standards established by the Atomic Energy Commission, the state Health Department and the Arkansas Pollution Control Commission.

The Bechtel Corp. of San Francisco, one of the world's largest engineering construction firms, has been retained as the design engineer and construction manager.

The nuclear steam supply system will be manufactured by Babcock & Wilcox, of Barberton, Ohio, which has supplied two-thirds of the nuclear reactors for Navy submarines and was employed on the Manhattan Project.

The Westinghouse Electric Corp. of Pittsburgh, Pa., will supply the turbine generator. AP&L will finance all the construction with private capital.

The plant will be the third major steam electric generating station that AP&L has planned or under construction. The company's 550,000-kilowatt Unit No. 2 at Helena is scheduled for operation in December. A $41 million expansion project at the Lake Catherine Steam Electric Station near Malvern will add a 530,000-kilowatt unit in 1969.

Ritchie said building these plants and completing other system expansion projects will require about $350 million in the next five years.

New York's Empire State building was completed in 1931.

of education, said: "There is absolutely no evidence that Title I (compensatory education for deprived children) funds are being used to discriminate against Negroes." Hughes maintained however, that Education Commissioner Harold Howe II has written a letter to school officials of Mississippi about evidence of misuse of the program. And Hughes added: "I guess it's a general problem in the rural South."

He said the Mississippi cases involved three school districts—two in Panola County and the other the Drew School District in Sunflower County—in which Negroes were "complaining that the free lunch program was an enticement to keep Negroes in their schools."

Hughes said the Office of Education has since received assurances from Mississippi state school officials that Negroes transferring to predominantly white schools will receive free lunches there if they need them. About $1 billion is being spent yearly under the compensatory education portion of the 1965 education act.

The issue of discrimination came to light after Senate testimony last Wednesday by M. Hayes Mizell, director of the South Carolina community relations program of the American Friends Service Committee.

Mizell said he's concerned that the Elementary and Secondary Education Act is "indirectly contributing to the preservation of the dual segregated school system in many areas of the South."

Houston Batters Cards 11-4

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Last year Bill Singer was losing his grip because of a cold finger. Now he's holding one of the hottest hands in the National League.

The 6-foot-4 Los Angeles rookie pitched a four-hitter and struck out 12 Monday night in blanking Atlanta 2-0 for his sixth straight victory. The shut-out completed a four-game series sweep for the Dodgers over the visiting Braves.

Singer sparked in three late-season relief appearances for the Dodgers last fall, but had trouble gripping the ball at times because of a mysterious coldness in a finger on his pitching hand.

However, post-season surgery — involving the removal of a piece of rib to correct a pinched nerve — eliminated the problem and the hard-throwing right-hander has overcome a shaky start this year to boost his record to 8-4. In eight starts over the past five weeks he has yielded only six earned runs in a span of 60 2-3 innings.

In other NL action, Pittsburgh trimmed the Chicago Cubs 5-1; Houston battered first-place St. Louis 11-4 and Cincinnati shut out San Francisco 2-0.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox nipped the New York Yankees 4-3; Boston topped Washington 6-5; Baltimore beat Kansas City 5-2 and California downed Cleveland 6-4.

Singer overpowered the Braves with six strikeouts in the first three innings and retired 16 batters in order after a first-inning single by Tito Francona.

"I guess added confidence has something to do with it," Singer said afterward in trying to explain his recent success. "I've never had much of a curve ball, but I have to use my slider as my breaking pitch. Tonight, I had the best hard slider I've thrown all year."

The Dodgers scored against Ken Johnson in the first on Nate Oliver's double, an infield single by Willie Davis and a double play grounder. They added a run in the third on a hit batted in and Jim Lefebvre's triple.

Roberto Clemente delivered four runs with a single and his 18th homer as the Pirates extended their winning string to five games.

Woody Fryman registered his second victory against six losses with relief help from Roz Face — and despite three errors by Bill Mazeroski, the fancy-fielding second baseman who set a league record by committing only eight miscues in 957 chances last season.

The Astros, who snapped St. Louis' eight-game victory string Sunday, banged out 13 hits against loser Ray Washburn and two successors, wrapping up the verdict with a five-run flurry in the seventh.

Rookie Norm Miller led the attack with three successive doubles, drove in a pair of runs and scored twice.

Jim Maloney stopped the Giants on two hits and extended his scoreless string to 16 innings as the second-place Reds trimmed a game off the Cardinals' runaway league lead.

Maloney, who pitched 7 1-3 hitless innings against Pittsburgh last Wednesday, retired 22 of the last 23 batters he faced in bringing his season mark to 11-9.

The Reds scored the only run they needed in the first inning when Vada Pinson singled, stole second and raced around on Lee May's bloop single. A sacrifice fly by Tommy Helms in the ninth produced the second run.

Richest Golf Tournament at Harrison

By IRA MILLER
LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Arnold Palmer complained today of his first shoulder ailment ever on the eve of the $250,000 Westchester Open — richest in pro golf.

Palmer was undergoing treatment for a muscle spasm in his right shoulder and didn't know how that would affect him in the Westchester, which starts Thursday in Harrison, N.Y.

Any kind of finish in that tournament would recapture for Palmer the PGA tour's one-season, money-winning record.

Palmer's shoulder started hurting Monday in the first round of the Pennsylvania Open on his home course. He was four strokes off the pace.

Palmer didn't want to admit his score, a four-over-par 75, but he spent more time exercising his shoulders than swinging his clubs.

"I might have caught a cold in it, but I'm not sure," he said. "I've never had this kind of trouble before."

The tournament itself at Laurel Valley Golf Club was a lark to Palmer, at least when it started.

First prize in the Pennsylvania Open is $800, compared to $50,000 the winner will receive at Westchester.

Interested.

New York acquired quarterback Fran Tarkenton from the Minnesota Vikings before the start of pre-season training, and after one week Washington was sent to the Westchester Bulls of the Atlantic Coast Football League. The Bulls are a farm club of the Giants.

Tom Scott, general manager of the Bulls explained, "Washington was sent down here to break him of some bad habits, which every rookie has. He'll also get a chance to play every game. That's the main reason he's here. With the Giants he wouldn't have had the opportunity."

GENERAL COMMENT—There's not really much you can predict about this turbulent organization. There's a new head coach, Joe Schmidt, who's never been a full-time coach of any kind before—though much respected as person and player. Thanks to merger, they've finally gotten their share of draft talent. But there's no pattern of stability—yet.

OFFENSE

PASSING—Some suspicion last year that young Karl Sweetan might finally have eased out Milt Plum. But here we go with another season, and it looks like Plum back at helm. Rating—B—

RECEIVING—Soon as Gail Cogdill (broken arm), Pat Studstill show up in one piece, they'll have ample talent on wide flanks. Cogdill might even have trouble staying off young Bill Malinchuk. Studstill merely led league. Delfy anyone to find a better tandem of tight ends than Ron Kramer, Jim Gibbons. Just get the ball to 'em. Rating—A—

RUNNING—Mel Farr, Nick Eddy represent best influx of ball carriers in club history. And they need 'em, too. Looks like Farr will play right away. Idea eventually is to pair 'em, but that could hurt in pass blocking. So guys like Tom Nowatke, willing but slow accelerating, and Amos Marsh, unpredictable, still figure. Rating—B—

LINE—Really hurting if Daryl Sanders sticks by decision to quit. Other tackle, J. D. Smith, also retired. Not even acquisition of Charley Bradshaw, compensates. Steady at center, with Ed Flanagan, and one guard, with John Gordy. Bob Kowalkowski's promising at other guard if they don't have to move him to tackle. Rating—C+

KICKING—Little Goro Ypreman hangs in there as the soccer-style field goal booter, with Wayne Walker for emergencies. Studstill is taps as punter.

DEFENSE

LINE—Even with Darris McCord, in his 13th season, starting to wear out, there's no real worry. Other end, Larry Hand, is a good one. Tackle duo of Roger Brown, Alex Karras remains best, would be even better if they learned to like each other. Jerry Rush is behind them. Rookie named Lev Kamanu could help out McCord. Rating—B+

LINEBACKERS—Bright rookie like Paul Nasmann is going to have to wait his turn because no one's moving out starting set of Wayne Walker (all-pro type), Ernie Clark at corners, Mike Lucci (developing fast) in middle. Wally Hilgenberg, in fact, gets first relief call. Rating—B+

SECONDARY—No apparent change here, either, with Bob Thompson, Dick LeBeau returning at corners, Bruce Maher and Wayne Rasmussen at safeties. Tommy Vaughn could push Rasmussen. Rookie Lem Barney might make Thompson step a little livelier to hang-in there. Rating—B

SUMMARY—The whole problem of the Lions is to find a quarterback who can generate consistent leadership. The defense, as proud Lion tradition should be up to past crews. The offense has an injection of running backs who'll give it a new image. Of course, Joe Schmidt also has to prove himself as a coach. PREDICTION—Third in Central division

Howard's Single Wins for Boston

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Elston Howard has traveled the pennant race road enough times to know all the curves and bends, but young Steve Jones can be forgiven if he isn't quite so familiar with it yet.

Howard, 38, was picked up by pennant hopeful Boston from New York three weeks ago and paid his first dividend Monday night with a ninth-inning single that drove in the winning run in the Red Sox' 6-5 victory over Washington.

And Jones, a young left-hander called up by Chicago from Indianapolis last week, got credit for his first major league victory as the White Sox squeezed into a tie for the American League lead with idle Minnesota by edging New York 4-3.

In the only other American League games played Monday, California dropped Cleveland 6-4 and Baltimore defeated Kansas City 5-2.

In the National League, Houston pounded St. Louis 11-4, Cincinnati blanked San Francisco 2-0, Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 5-1 and Los Angeles shut out Atlanta 2-0.

Howard, who played in nine World Series with the Yankees, was delighted at finally making a contribution to the Red Sox' pennant push. Monday's victory left the third place Sox one game back of Chicago and Minnesota.

Howard was retired the first four times up Monday—twice with men on base. In the ninth, with the winning run on third and one out, Washington Manager Gil Hodges ordered two intentional walks, loading the bases. Then Howard singled to left center.

Chicago's Jones had Howard's old Yankee teammates stymied on one hit and was leading 4-0 when he suddenly ran into trouble in the sixth inning.

Mickey Mantle and Joe Pepitone walked and Bill Robinson singled one run across. Hoyt Wilhelm relieved Jones and yielded a two-run double to Charles Smith before shutting the door.

It was Wilhelm's 11th save this season. Rocky Colapinto slammed a two-run homer for the White Sox and Ron Hansen's sacrifice fly drove in what turned out to be the winning run.

California came from behind to beat Cleveland in a game enlivened by a beanball incident that led to the ejection of Cleveland's Tony Horton.

Horton was struck on the helmet by Angel reliever Jim Coates and started after the pitcher. Both benches emptied as Horton and Coates tangled near the pitcher's mound.

"I just lost my head," Horton said later. "I wasn't going to go after him, but I lost my head and I had to get him."

Bubba Morton's pinch double sparked a three-run comeback that gave the Angels the victory. Morton's hit tied the score in the fifth inning and then Jim Fregosi singled him home with California's go-ahead run.

Fred Whitfield and Larry Brown homered for the Indians. Baltimore's Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks, each slammed a home run and drove in two runs apiece in the Orioles' victory over the beleaguered Athletics.

It was the first game for Kansas City under interim Manager Luke Appling.

Cards Beat Baltimore By Kicking

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It looks like the St. Louis football Cardinals have found the perfect defense—let the other team score.

St. Louis punter Joe Randall downed the ball in the end zone with less than two minutes to go and gave the Baltimore Colts a two-point safety. The Cardinals held on to beat Baltimore 9-5 in an NFL exhibition game Monday night.

"Charley (St. Louis head coach Charley Winner) told me to get the safety and then punt," Randall said. "I didn't even think of it until Charley said it."

Charley didn't think of it until field goal kicker Jim Bakken, who won the game with three field goals, came up with the idea.

"Jim came over and suggested it," Winner said. "We thought about it and figured it would take a touchdown to beat us either way, and this way we figured to get better field position."

SWAN SONG is the title and Harry Walker, Pirate manager, and Maury Wills, behind him, the vocalists. Umpire Paul Pryor started the songfest by throwing Wills out of the game. Walker came to the aid of his third baseman. As always, it was in vain. One thing is certain, though, Wills and Walker are in perfect unison.

Finley Also Fires First Baseman

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The feud between the Kansas City Athletics and owner Charles O. Finley stood at a silent impasse today as both sides declined comment on a lengthy clubhouse meeting which ended about 1:20 a.m.

For the moment, at least, Finley appeared to hold the upper hand — having fired Manager Alvin Dark, released first baseman Ken Harrelson, suspended pitcher Lew Krausse and fired pitcher Jack Aker.

But Finley's silence after a meeting of almost two hours indicated he may not know his next move in the explosive situation.

Harrelson, given his unconditional release Monday after criticizing Finley, said the controversial Kansas City boss "may have gotten in deeper than he thinks this time."

"Finley made one mistake after another in the last week," Harrelson said. "The biggest one was firing Alvin Dark."

Dark was dismissed at 5:30 a.m. Sunday, following an all-night meeting in a Washington hotel. The meeting was called after the players met Saturday and released a statement which supported Dark and accused Finley of undermining team morale by using an informant to spy on the team.

The Athletics also contended that an incident on an airline trip from Boston to Kansas City, which led to the suspension of Krausse, had been overplayed.

Aker, the team's player representative who was fined $200 for missing curfew last Saturday night, said the Krausse incident was not the start of the trouble but rather had "brought it into the open."

The players' statement which followed, however, has become the focal point of the dispute while the underlying reasons remain hidden.

Prior to Monday night's Baltimore-Kansas City game, the A's held a clubhouse meeting and voted unanimously not to retract the statement which they said had been requested by Finley.

In 1899-1900 Hempstead county was voted dry by local option, but Miller county remaining wet, the famed "Badlands" across Red river from Fulton did a flourishing business.

This old photograph shows "the bar boat" crossing the Red from Fulton to a pair of famous old-time saloons in the "Badlands." The saloon on the left was Obe Wilson's, while that on the right was owned by Cox Brothers.

About 1900 legal liquor returned to Hempstead county, and the "Badlands" saloons and their "bar boat" accordingly fell upon hard times.

Price of Groceries Shown in 1870-71

Colonel Hervey's File Discloses Red River Steamers' Cargo Lists

The kind of groceries people demanded and the prices they paid for them when the necessities of life were shipped up Red river from New Orleans and Shreveport to Dooley's Ferry and Fulton, are revealed by the private business file of Colonel Calvin M. Hervey, Spring Hill planter, shipper and merchant (died 1895 and buried in Hope), to his German secretary, A. (Gus) Guymier, in Hervey's shipping office at Shreveport in 1870—the colonel having been called away from his family at Spring Hill for two years because of management problems in the business.

Colonel Hervey wrote as follows: "Oct. 18, 1870."

"Dear Sir: Mr. Martin called on me today, with reference to a small order left here for you, to know whether I would send you the articles or not. I regret to remark that I am not willing to extend credit on such indefinite terms to be paid for as soon as you can make collections. I have too many a/c's of this character and prefer to control my business to a near-cash system. Groceries as you well know are cash articles and like all others dealing in such have to accommodate myself to such terms as can be made available at any moment. If you can state some positive time when you can pay for the goods, and beyond a disappointment, I would be pleased to consider your wants, since you have for some time been a customer."

Missing Cargo

River shippers and their captains had plenty of trouble keeping track of their many-parcelled cargoes, as evidenced by the following letter: "Oct. 12, 1870."

"Messrs. Brooks, Claiborne & Co., New Orleans, La."

"Dear Sirs: I beg leave respectfully to report results of my investigation, relative to goods shipped by you to Benj. F. Hawkins as signified by your invoice accompanying left with me for reference, to wit:

"The articles contained in invoice other than those on freight bill attached were rec'd by H. E. & W. on March 5, 1870, viz: (Steamer) Texarkana and stored subject to boat's order. Sometime afterwards she called for same, say: 2 bbls. pork, 1 bbl. sugar, 2 bbls. flour all of which was delivered to her, excepting 1 bbl. flour which was afterwards forwarded for Travis Wright and which appears to be the bbl. acknowledged by your Mr. C. to have been rec'd by Hawkins. The missing articles were, as I am informed, taken to Fulton by the Texarkana and there delivered outright. For further particulars, however, I especially refer you to Capt. N. "I hope that's a nice hook for you to read, darling," said a conscientious mother to her very young daughter.

"Oh, yes, mummy, it's a lovely book, but I don't think you'd like it. It's so sad at the end."

A Colonel Hervey Letter—Trace Missing Cargo on Red River

Credit was a troublesome question in 1870 as well as 1936—and even as early as 66 years ago business men were thinking about going on a cash basis.

Here is a letter that sounds as though it were written today.

It was dictated by Colonel Calvin M. Hervey, Spring Hill planter, shipper and merchant (died 1895 and buried in Hope), to his German secretary, A. (Gus) Guymier, in Hervey's shipping office at Shreveport in 1870—the colonel having been called away from his family at Spring Hill for two years because of management problems in the business.

The Star is indebted to Mrs. Fannie Holt, South Hervey street, Hope, for permission to print these extracts from the books of her grandfather's business.

Colonel Hervey wrote as follows: "Oct. 18, 1870."

"Dear Sir: Mr. Martin called on me today, with reference to a small order left here for you, to know whether I would send you the articles or not. I regret to remark that I am not willing to extend credit on such indefinite terms to be paid for as soon as you can make collections. # 1820 Proclamation Appointed Ensign

Ashbrook Appointment One of First Acts of Governor Miller

By Charleston Moss Williams

Among the first acts of James Miller, first Territorial Governor of Arkansas, was the appointment of Alfred Ashbrook as Ensign in the Territorial militia. The proclamation follows:

"JAMES MILLER
GOVERNOR OF THE TERRITORY OF ARKANSAS.

"To All Who Shall see these presents, greetings:

"Know ye that repposing special trust and confidence in the patriotism, valor, fidelity and ability of Alfred Ashbrook, I do by these presents appoint him Ensign in this fifth regiment of the militia of Territory of Arkansas. He is therefore carefully and diligently to discharge the duty of Ensign in leading, ordering and exercising the militia of said Territory and in performing all the duties appertaining to his office as Ensign. And he is to observe and follow all such orders and directions from time to time as he shall receive from the government of said Territory for the time being or other superior officers set over him according to the laws for regulating and disciplining the militia of said Territory. And I do strictly charge and require all officers and soldiers under his command to be obedient to his orders. This commission to continue in force during the term of the governor of the Territory for the time being. Given under my hand at the Post of Arkansas this 25th day of October, 1820, and in the forty-fifth year of the Independence of the United States.

Examine These Points In Your Home

Here is What to Look For:

Walls and wall covering—cheerful or depressing? The walls are a good place to start; properly treated they can give your home a real personality no matter when it was built. Check your pictures and picture frames.

Floors—are they bare and cold looking? How about the rugs, are they shabby? New rugs will bring out new beauty in the walls and furniture.

Windows are the eyes of your home, the first thing you see when you enter the room by day. How are they dressed? Are your curtains faded—drapes out-of-date? New blinds might help.

Lamps—are there enough of them? Are they proper for reading, or do they throw a glare? Do they make your home look friendly and cozy? Our store will give you free expert advice.

Accessories—are they correct? Accessories make a home homelike. Lack of them will make your rooms look like hotel rooms—the wrong accessories will throw everything out of kilter.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Trick Refusal Sets Declarer

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The knockout team of four at the Fort Worth Regionals was won by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Brachman, Sidney Lazard and Paul Leavitt. During the course of the final match Minda (Mrs. Brachman) and Sidney co-operated on a surprisingly brilliant defense to beat a no-trump game.

There were any number of ways for declarer to make his contract against any line of defense whatsoever. The line he took gave Minda a chance to refuse to win the wrong trick.

South won the spade lead with his king and led a heart toward dummy. Minda took her ace (she had no option) and led the ten of spades. South won with dummy's jack and cashed the king, queen and jack of hearts. Minda discarded the nine of clubs.

South had seven tricks in and saw that if he could get to his hand with the king of clubs he would be able to make the ninth trick with his ace of diamonds. He proceeded to play the ace and another spade.

If Minda had been the least bit careless she would have cashed two spade tricks. Then she would have to lead a club and declarer would have his contract. Minda decided that this play was not going to come off. She dropped her eight of spades under the ace and her deuce of spades under the three spot. South was still in dummy.

He led the five of clubs. Sidney covered with the six and now the wisdom of the early discard of the nine became apparent. Declarer ducked in the hope that Minda would have to win the trick but she was able to lose this trick to her partner and they made the rest of the tricks.

Minda accepted congratulations for her spade play but said that her nine of clubs play had just been a signal and not the start of a whole plan of ducking.

HITCHING A RIDE on the wing of a Navy Skyhawk attack bomber may not seem the safest way to get somewhere, but it's one way to put the plane in the right place. This member of the flight deck crew on the aircraft carrier Hancock off Vietnam was helping maneuver the plane to its parking place after landing, since the nose wheel is not controllable from the cockpit.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Surgery During Pregnancy Poses No Special Risks

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am 47 years old and in good health. I am expecting my first baby. Is there any danger in pregnancy at my age? Where can I get a good book about pregnancy?

A—In women who are expecting their first child after they are 35, labor is likely to be prolonged and difficult. For this reason most obstetricians advise that they have a Caesarean operation.

Several books have been written to answer the many questions a woman may want to ask her doctor. One of the best is "Expectant Motherhood," by N. J. Eastman (Little, Brown and Co.), now in its fourth edition. A valuable feature of this book is that it explains away many groundless fears and superstitions connected with childbirth.

Q—Is it possible to become pregnant while breast feeding a baby? Is it possible for a pregnant woman to have an operation without it hurting the child?

A—It is possible but very rare for a woman who has not menstruated since her last baby was born, to become pregnant. This is especially true if she has not had to give the baby supplemental bottle feedings.

Although it is preferable to postpone an operation until after delivery if possible, there is no special risk in performing a necessary operation at any stage of pregnancy, thanks to modern pre-operative care, wide choice of anesthetics and improved surgical techniques.

Q—I have heard that some couples have incompatible blood types that make it impossible for them to have a child. My blood type is O and my husband's is AB. Could this be the reason we have this?

New Haven Again Scene of Looting

By RICHARD ZIMMER
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Sporadic racial violence occurred Monday night in a ring encircling downtown New Haven as the city felt its third day of fire-setting and looting.

The city remained in a state of emergency as arrests—mostly on charges of breach of peace—mounted today. Most of those arrested were Negroes.

Police reported 343 arrests since the disturbances broke out Saturday night, reportedly spurred by the shooting of a Puerto Rican man by the white proprietor of a snack bar on Congress Avenue.

Thirty-three blazes reported by authorities between 7 p.m. and midnight—four of them called major fires—caused police to resort occasionally to tear gas to keep crowds clear of the firefighters.

Two firebombing incidents, confirmed by authorities, contributed to making the night the worst of the three in terms of fire calls.

Police said that most of the looting incidents occurred at liquor stores. They said the looting Monday night was on about the same scale as the night before but declined to estimate the losses.

Despite an 8 p.m. curfew, ordered for the second night by Mayor Richard C. Lee, small groups of persons wandered the streets or stood outside homes.

Mayor Lee was grim and obviously upset as he spoke to reporters about the disturbances in New Haven—a city whose urban renewal and antipoverty programs have been considered a model in the nation.

The mayor said that city officials were still communicating with Negro leaders in the neighborhoods. But he didn't confirm that he had discussed a "deal" with a representative of the Hill Parents Association.

Mrs. Fred Harris, wife of the association president, announced late Monday that the "deal" had been offered.

She said that the main points were that the ratio of 200 state troopers to 400 city policemen be reduced to one-to-three; that city police be prohibited from carrying rifles; and that residents of the Hill section be given identification passes to allow them to move about after curfew.

There were no immediate indications that city officials intended to honor any part of the request. However, the tempo of looting and fire-setting decreased markedly at about 1 a.m.

The Negroes and Puerto Ricans involved in the disturbances are "looking for an excuse to express their feeling about where they live," said Curtis Belton, head of Operation Breakthrough, a Hill Parents Association project. "We know this ain't no model city."

Arkansans to Hear Kennedy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. "Ted" Kennedy, D-Mass., is scheduled to deliver a speech to a youth rally sponsored by the Young Democrats Oct. 7 at Little Rock.

Democratic members of the state's congressional delegation are expected to meet with Kennedy, along with Democratic state office holders and party officials.

Kennedy's speech will be telecast statewide.

Kennedy's brother, the late President John F. Kennedy visited Arkansas to dedicate Greer's Ferry Dam approximately four years ago, and Kennedy's visit will approximate the anniversary of his brother's visit.

Says Negroes Feel They're Being Conned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate committees heard big-city Negro slum-dwellers pictured as increasingly alienated from the over-all community and growingly suspicious of whites.

"We have developed a society where it is possible for a Negro child raised in the heart of a large city to reach adolescence without ever having known a white person of his own age," U.S. Civil Rights Commissioner Frank Freeman told a Senate housing subcommittee Monday.

"In short," Mrs. Freeman added, "we have developed a society that is rapidly being divided into opposite camps, hostile and mistrustful of each other."

The Senate Judiciary Committee was told meanwhile that Negroes feel "they are being conned" or swindled by empty promises. They're no longer satisfied, said Dr. Nathan E. Cohen of the University of California at Los Angeles, by "yo-yo programs" aimed at cooling summer tensions.

Cohen, who headed a two-year UCLA study of the causes of the 1965 Watts riots, testified as the Judiciary Committee resumed hearings on a House-passed bill that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line to incite rioting.

Cohen said the conditions causing riots won't be solved by "preventing" someone from going from one community to another. If all the emphasis is placed on policing, without getting at the causes, we are in trouble.

Two Cabinet members and a civil rights leader joined Mrs. Freeman in urging support for the administration's open housing proposal.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, told the housing subcommittee that while open housing would not eliminate racial problems, without it "I don't think the total effort can be successful." Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark also backed the measure, saying "sooner or later we must manifest our commitment to open housing and act on that commitment."

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, said it is impossible to guarantee that open housing would end Negro rioting.

Never Has U.S. Been So Entrapped

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In its whole history the United States never got into a fix like Vietnam. It's the old story of how one thing led to another.

President Johnson has said the U.S. forces are in South Vietnam to enable the people to choose their own destiny. Self-determination, he called it.

This is a little too simple, a little too pure. The United States also has a self-interest in trying to prevent communism from taking over.

And that's where the story begins. President Harry S. Truman gave the French billions of dollars in aid, starting in 1950, to help them stop the Communists in Indochina.

That was the start of American involvement. In 1954, when the French were defeated and driven out, an international conference at Geneva arranged, at least temporarily, to divide Vietnam into two separate governments, North and South.

The United States began at once to help the non-Communist government in the South. This was under President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In 1954 this country had also entered into an agreement—the Southeast Asia Treaty—with other nations in the area to help them or their neighbors repel Communist aggression.

At first the United States gave South Vietnam economic help and weapons, then sent in military advisers, and still later sent in troops to fight.

At various times between 1954 and 1960 Eisenhower said things like this:

A Communist takeover in South Vietnam would endanger the rest of Southeast Asia and set in motion a "crumbling process that could, as it progressed, have grave consequences for us and for freedom."

This was the so-called "falling domino" theory: that if the Communists were allowed to get away with capturing one Southeast Asian country, the next one would be easier, for those countries wouldn't have much confidence left in the United States.

And Eisenhower said: "We reach the inescapable conclusion that our own national interests demand some help from us in sustaining in South Vietnam" the ability to continue free.

Later President John F. Kennedy said he agreed with Eisenhower's domino theory. Meanwhile, the Viet Cong, with the help of North Vietnam, swept across South Vietnam and was close to taking it over.

By then Johnson was President and in the summer of 1964 some North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin. Johnson ordered bombing raids on North Vietnamese bases along the Gulf.

And he asked Congress to approve a resolution backing him up. Congress did on Aug. 7, 1964, in a joint resolution which the House okayed 416 to 0 and the Senate approved 88 to 2.

It said the United States considers it "vital to its own national interest and world peace to maintain . . . security in Southeast Asia." And the resolution backed Johnson in taking all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression.

The war was on in earnest. Pretty soon this country will have over 500,000 men in South Vietnam. Already about 15,000 American lives have been lost. The end is not in sight.

As the fighting grew more bloody, protests for one reason or another increased in this country and some of the "doves" in Congress, particularly Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., denounced the whole business.

Finally, Morse proposed to the Senate that it repeal the Gulf of Tonkin resolution.

Before the senators voted, Johnson sent word that those South Vietnam's Cao Dai religion who wanted to "reverse" the 1964 resolution because they had port the government has been a "change of heart" should go wailing.

But political analysts agree the Senate killed the Morse proposal 92 to 5 by tabling it. One indication of how the election will turn out. In previous appearances, criticism of the government by the civilian candidates has brought applause, and in Ban Me Thuot Monday, a large group of soldiers applauded a criticism of armed forces.

In their trips so far, the civilian candidates have spoken to fewer than 20,000 persons. They will probably speak to 30,000 others before the Sept. 3 election. It is a minuscule proportion of the 5.85 million registered voters, about 80 per cent of whom are expected to vote.

But Sunday Fulbright said the

SS Measure to Finance Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bulky Social Security Bill goes before the Senate Finance Committee today to undergo a scrutiny expected to last into October.

Committee members say they hope public hearings and executive voting sessions can be finished in time to get the bill before the Senate for debate by mid-October.

The Senate is considered certain to make many changes in the measure. Even if it passes, negotiations with the House will be required before the final bill goes to President Johnson.

The House-passed bill would raise basic Social Security benefits at least 12½ per cent and also boost the payroll taxes to pay for them. The President asked a 15 per cent increase in payments.

The House also added to the bill sharp curbs on federally-aided welfare programs, especially Aid to Dependent Children.

Administration witnesses leading off the testimony today are expected to ask that these welfare provisions be heavily revised and that the higher levels of benefits originally proposed by Johnson be restored.

The witnesses will include John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare; Wilbur J. Cohen, HEW undersecretary; and Robert M. Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration.

Some committee members, known to favor restoring a higher benefit scale, said if this were not done in committee the issue was certain to cause a floor fight.

Several Republican and Democratic senators, for example, have said they will battle for the $70 monthly minimum Social Security payment they long have advocated.

That minimum payment was endorsed by Johnson this year. But the House Ways and Means Committee cut it to $50, a $6 hike over the present $44 minimum payments, and the bill cleared the House with that figure in it.

Tradition states that George Washington took command of the Continental Army under the Washington Elm at Cambridge, Mass.

Reuther Is Seeking an Auto Strike

By A. F. MAHAN
FLINT, Mich. (AP) — With other United Auto Workers leaders claiming the Big Three auto-makers are pushing them toward a strike, Union President Walter P. Reuther is seeking support among members for just such an eventuality.

Bargaining continued in its seventh week in Detroit on contracts to replace three-year pacts which run out in 18 days at General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

Both sides agree only minor progress has been made thus far, with none in economic areas. The union is clamoring for counteroffers to its demands that include a big wage increase and a guaranteed annual income.

Reuther and UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock today address rallies called for Flint's 70,000 General Motors hourly rated workers.

Their appearance was billed as one to report on negotiations, which the union contends the companies are letting drag with strike-threatening slowness.

But Reuther and Woodcock also are to ask for overwhelming approval of a strike, if and when negotiators decide one is necessary, to win what Reuther says is his union's "longest and most ambitious list" of demands.

UAW members in the Flint area vote Wednesday and Thursday. Unless results are different from those of past years and those already in this time, strike authorization will get lopsided approval.

Votes Monday at two Ford local unions favored strike authorization 2,869 to 74. Two Chrysler locals which reported last week gave approval by about the same ratio.

GM, Ford and Chrysler members have been told to have results into UAW headquarters by Friday.

Woodcock, also the union's GM director, and Ken Bannon, UAW Ford chief, accused the companies Monday of apparently being determined to force a strike through inaction.

Douglas Fraser, leader of the union's bargaining team at Chrysler, said that if reports published Sunday in Detroit are true then "the companies deliberately are trying to provoke a strike."

The report was that the companies may change tactics this time around, delaying an economic counteroffer until after the union has picked a target company.

None of the companies would confirm or deny the report.

The UAW has some 650,000 members employed in Big Three plants across the nation.

LOADING UP for some camera action in South Vietnam is actor Hugh O'Brian, who made popular the Wyatt Earp role on a television series. O'Brian was visiting U.S. troops on "Hong Kong Mountain" near An Khe.

NEW YORK (AP) — A supermarket, a drive-in theater and a race track were the three things the Soviet premier's daughter most wanted to see in the United States.

So writes Mrs. Richard J. Hughes, wife of the New Jersey governor, who entertained Ludmila Gvishliani, daughter of Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, during the Glassboro, N.J., summit talks last June. Mrs. Hughes, in a McCall's magazine article, said she invited Mrs. Gvishliani to come back with her husband and children—incognito—so they could see the things she had missed.

Mrs. Gvishliani, who was a luncheon guest of the Hughes family at their beach house, said that because of fear of crowds she had not been able to see the three things she most wanted to see, Mrs. Hughes wrote.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Tipsy Testator

"Don't drink before driving," warn the safety experts.

Don't drink before making your will, either. If you do, you are opening the possibility that, some distant day, the document may be held null and void in a courtroom.

Of course, intoxication is a matter of degree. A man who fortified himself with a couple of drinks, but then proceeded to discuss and sign his will with obvious understanding of what he was doing, was held to have made a valid will.

What concerns the law is the man who is too intoxicated to exercise judgment. For then the document he signs does not truly express his "will" at all.

The crucial time is the moment of signing. Even a chronic alcoholic may make a valid will if he executes it during a sober interval.

Tougher problems arise in the case of drugs. Not infrequently, a person makes his will while under treatment for a serious illness. Drugs he is taking, particularly the painkillers, may have side effects that lower his testamentary capacity, at least temporarily.

As a rule, mild side effects—perhaps some anxiety or euphoria—will not invalidate a will. Thus, a court upheld a will made by a heart patient a few hours after taking a small dose of a narcotic drug. The court pointed out that, while the dosage may have made him sleepy or slowed his reactions, it did not rob him of his essential awareness of the proceedings.

Can anything be done if a patient is receiving such strong sedatives, or such mind-distorting drugs, that there is real doubt of his ability to make a will?

One possibility, in such circumstances, is to ease up temporarily on the medication—provided, of course, that this is medically justifiable.

Another possibility is to prepare the will in relatively simple form. This may help to convince a court, later on, that the patient was able to comprehend what he was signing.

On the whole, the law will bend over backward to hold a will good. Better to give reasonable weight to the testator's intentions, imperfectly expressed, than to give them no weight at all.

Forest Fires Raging in Three States

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Vast forest land areas of Idaho, Oregon, Montana and British Columbia were aflame today as firefighters sought to overcome manpower shortages; hot, dry weather, and a threat of lightning storms in the Northwest.

More than 40 new fires were reported Monday in the region. Washington State officials said the forest fire threat there was the worst in history.

Spokesmen for the U.S. Forest Service regional office in Ogden, Utah, said exact estimates on the number and size of the fires are impossible.

"We don't have enough men to cover all the fires," Richard Stauber, Forest Service information officer, said. "We've been trying to fight the big ones and then on to the others as we can."

He said the Forest Service, state and volunteer groups hoped to muster enough manpower today to control all but the most minor blazes. No fatalities have been reported.

A major blaze southwest of the small north Idaho community of Peck mushroomed out of control. More than four square miles of tinder-dry trees and grass had been blackened Monday night.

About 70 other smaller fires were burning in north Idaho, while southern Idaho firefighters attempted to choke off the largest of 80 blazes. Hardest hit were Payette and Salmon National forests. More than 250 new fires have hit Idaho since Sunday night.

In Oregon, more than 1,000 men faced blazes racing over 25,000 acres. The largest was a 14,000-acre fire on Bureau of Land Management property south of Burns. There ranch houses were destroyed in an 8,000-acre fire southwest of The Dalles in central Oregon near the Washington border.

With more than 13,000 acres of Canadian timberland on fire, British Columbia faced possible labor problems. Walter Allen, president of an International Woodworkers of America local, said the union is investigating complaints of meals, hiring methods, hours and other conditions in the section where a 6,000-acre blaze is raging on Vancouver Island.

French term kept cropping up. It ran: "Soups—du jour" . . . "vegetables—du jour" and so on . . . du jour . . . du jour . . .

"What," I asked our polished Negro waiter, "is 'du jour'?"

He hesitated, struck a pose like a golfer getting ready to swing at the ball — and his manner telegraphed to me the information that he had been asked this question before and was prepared to give a pat answer. Here it came:

"Well, you see, sir: 'A la carte' means just the item you order, nothing else. But 'du jour'—now 'du jour' means anything else we got—if we got it."

Yes, sir; Hot Springs is not only full this summer — it's a sophisticated town, too.

Says U.S. So Trapped by War That Saigon Can Ignore Demands

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case suggested today the heavy U.S. military involvement in Vietnam has so trapped the Johnson administration that the Saigon government can ignore demands for basic civil reforms.

Case, a New Jersey Republican and a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said plans to dispatch 45,000 additional U.S. troops emphasize that "American prestige is so deeply involved that we can't withdraw and the South Vietnamese, knowing this, feel free to ignore our requirements."

"I am convinced that the American people will not accept such a position," he said. "Yet the President's decision to send more troops is hard to reconcile with any conclusion other than that the administration has allowed itself to be trapped into this intolerable dilemma."

Case's views were in a prepared Senate speech.

President Johnson said again Monday U.S. goals in the war are limited to stopping aggression "to assure a small and struggling nation the chance to chart its own future in freedom."

His remarks came at a White House ceremony at which he presented a Medal of Honor to Marine Gunnery Sgt. Jimmie E.

Howard for valor in Vietnam. Johnson made no reference to the Navy's earlier announcement that two of its attack planes were missing and presumed downed in Red China.

That announcement also brought little comment from senators who last week complained that bombings within 10 miles of the border were increasing the risk of Chinese intervention.

Fear of Middle Age One Thing That Can Make People Anxious

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—In what has been called "the age of anxiety," one of the things that make people most anxious is the fear of middle age.

They dread it as if it were some mysterious malady that would pounce upon them in the night and rob them of their joy in living.

Actually, middle age isn't usually sudden or strikingly crippling. Its onset is so gradual that millions of people have suffered it for years without noticing a loss of zest in living and, in fact, without even realizing they had become middle aged.

How can one tell when one is middle aged? There are literally hundreds of indicators, depending upon the individual. But you've probably reached that point if—

Summer after summer, the water in the lake you swim in seems to be getting colder with the passage of the years.

The barber you go to regularly appears quite a bit balder than when he first started cutting your hair.

Your wife doesn't fuss at you if you don't take her dancing as much as you used to. In winter, she now volunteers to help you shovel snow off the driveway as she doesn't want you to overexert yourself.

Most of the bachelors you used to play poker with have sons in college, and some carry pictures of grandchildren in their wallets.

You worry less about having to wear bifocals than about where you last put them down.

Three-fourths of the foods you enjoy most are on a list that the doctor suggests you would well to cut down on or do without altogether.

The other people at a party look at you as if you were a creature from outer space when you try to live things up by singing such ditties as, "How yuh gonna keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen Pa-ree?"

You start wearing shoes without shoelaces because they encumber you to get dressed in the morning without having to bend over.

It occurs to you that the campaign to elect younger men to public office may have gotten out of hand lately.

Even though you are buying slacks two sizes bigger, they still are too snug around the waist. They just don't make them the way they used to.

You like to see young children at play, but you no longer have much of a desire to pick them up and make them scream in pretended terror as you toss them in the air.

When your wife tells you that you can have a night out with the boys, you're usually back home and in bed by 11:30 p.m.

At the office you waste more time figuring out what your pension will be than you do in kidding the pretty secretaries.

It takes three hard breaths to blow out the candles on your birthday cake, and the effort leaves you winded.

You can look back and remember when everything they showed on television was strange and new and exciting.

That's middle age. But if you relax and enjoy it, it won't seem half as bad as you feared.

But there has been no action on the legislation. The White House, congressional sources say, declined to back it after some inquiries indicated it would run into the usual thicket of congressional jealousies, with well-entrenched chairmen and senior members insisting they could make better choices among programs than any outsiders.

Budget-cutting Must Come to Assure Okay to Income Tax Hike

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—A dramatic demonstration of administration budget-cutting is needed to assure House passage of President Johnson's proposed income tax hike, say some reluctant backers.

But no one has come up yet with a formula for whittling the budget—not only effectively but also in a manner guaranteed to soothe the voters at home—and so the measure faces deep trouble in the House, they add.

The tax increase proposal has been getting concentrated spotlight treatment ever since President Johnson suggested tacking a 10 per cent surcharge on existing income taxes. Public hearings by the House Ways and Means Committee, with top government and private figures as witnesses, have kept the wattage high.

Administration witnesses have spoken of reducing spending by amounts comparable to the $7.5 billion the tax increase is estimated to yield, thus taking a double bite out of a deficit which, if left to grow, might reach $29 billion.

Republicans and a number of vocal Democrats have insisted Congress should not consider a tax increase until the budget is cut as much as possible. But budget cutting is an intricate, piecemeal job, and always open to the charge by unfriendly members of Congress that some claimed economies really are juggling.

So far, the administration spokesmen, challenged for details, have been able only to promise reviews of all programs, cuts wherever possible and the like.

There has been some exploration of a possible bill that would combine a tax increase and a spending limitation—a package some advocates of economies might find it hard to vote against. But, given Congress' rigid organization, with each committee fiercely defending its jurisdiction, such a combination measure would be extremely hard to arrange.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee suggested a new approach to the problem of limiting spending several months ago. He introduced a bill to set up a blue ribbon commission of private citizens to review government programs, new and old, and to report on which produced the most and which the least for the money spent, which may now be obsolete, which should have priority in case of retrenchment.

But there has been no action on the legislation. The White House, congressional sources say, declined to back it after some inquiries indicated it would run into the usual thicket of congressional jealousies, with well-entrenched chairmen and senior members insisting they could make better choices among programs than any outsiders.

Says Areas Use OEO to Segregate

By JACK MILLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Taking issue with another high federal official, the head of the government's program to upgrade the education of deprived children says it has been used by some Southern school officials to segregate Negro students.

John F. Hughes, director of the U.S. Office of Education's compensatory education division said in an interview this has been done by offering services to Negro schools that are not available to Negroes who transfer to predominantly white schools.

But the director of the federal elementary and secondary education programs, Dr. Nolan Estes, disagrees.

In a statement prepared for news media in response to Senate testimony on the issue, Estes, associate commissioner

U.S. Gambling Stamps Owned by Clubs

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Three of the four private clubs raided by State Police at Hot Springs Thursday had paid a total of $6,450 in federal gambling taxes, the Arkansas Democrat reported Monday.

The newspaper said 15 persons connected with the three clubs had purchased 25 stamps for coin-operated gambling devices at $250 each and eight wagering stamps at $25 each.

The Ohio Club received 10 of the $250 stamps and one of the $25 stamps, the Democrat said, while the Bridge Street Club was issued nine $250 stamps and three $25 stamps and the Citizens Social Club six $250 stamps and four $25 stamps.

Purchasers of the federal wagering stamps also must pay a 10 per cent tax on wagering income.

The stamps for coin-operated gambling devices are required for slot machines, pinball machines or any so-called amusement device used for gambling.

Legislature to Be Asked to Study

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has not fully digested the new Social Security bill approved in the U.S. House, but he may well ask the General Assembly to consider some of the sweeping changes proposed in the legislation when he calls it into special session next January, state Welfare Commissioner Len Blaylock said Monday.

Included in the proposal is an amendment freezing the case load and number of eligible recipients for aid to dependent children, Blaylock said, and Rockefeller may ask the state legislature to think about financing that part of the program not covered by the federal government.

Under the new measure, which would take effect July 1, 1969, he said, the federal government would pay two-thirds of the cost at the January 1967 level. The state would have to finance all of the case load above that, he added.

Crawford Grant Is $478,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Economic Development Administration said Monday that it had approved $478,000 grant and a $120,000 loan to the Crawford County Industrial Development Corp., to develop an industrial park at Van Buren, Ark.

Six U.S. Planes Are Lost in Heavy Raid on Hanoi-Haiphong

$70 Billion for Defense Is Assured

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The largest appropriation in U.S. history, a $70.2 billion defense spending bill swollen by the war in Vietnam, appears headed for passage without significant alteration.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he was confident the measure would pass unchanged, despite threats by critics of the Vietnam war to seek appropriation cuts in an effort to influence the policy of the administration.

Only a handful of senators have been on hand during two days of debate on the measure, and no such effort has been posted.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said he hoped the measure he is managing would pass the Senate by tonight.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., had talked of a budget-trimming move aimed at President Johnson's Vietnam policy. But Clark said he will not propose one.

The bill, $1.4 billion below the level the President proposed, includes more than $20 billion linked to the Vietnam war.

The debate centered Monday on missile defense and on accounting systems.

No Trial Planned in Freedom Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Circuit Judge Warren E. Wood said Monday that there would be no trial of a suit filed as the state's first test of the Freedom of Information Law approved by the 1967 General Assembly.

He has taken the case under advisement and will reach a decision on the basis of briefs, stipulation of facts and motions by both sides for summary judgments, Wood said.

The suit was filed against the North Little Rock City Council and the North Little Rock city attorney by The Times, a weekly newspaper.

The Times contended that the council and the city attorney violated the act by holding a closed session April 24.

Can't Serve on Both Boards

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office advised Ouachita County Judge Alfred Stinnett of Camden Monday that a person could not serve simultaneously on county school and county equalization boards.

In another opinion, the attorney general's office said a city planning commission has jurisdiction over land use within five miles of its corporate limits.

Postmaster Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has nominated William C. McArthur as postmaster at Dyess (Mississippi County), Ark., the White House announced Monday.

The other five planes lost in the North included three A6 Navy Intruder jets, two of which the U.S. Command said probably went down in Red China, and two Air Force Thunderchiefs. All eight fliers aboard them were listed as missing.

The two intruders lost in China had come off a bomb run just north of Hanoi and at least one was known to have been hit at that time, the command said.

They were jumped by an unknown number of Communist MIGs and while attempting to get away apparently flew over the border.

Peking's official New China News Agency said both were shot down over the Kwangsi region of south China and one pilot was captured.
